2018 HIGHLIGHTS

The HotelPlanner.com PGA EuroPro 2018 season was shaping up to be a battle to the finish with the continuation of the £250,000 bonus for the first player to achieve 4 wins during the season.

In the opening event of the season Paul O'Hara from Glasgow, Scotland negotiated the aptly named Blue Course at Frilford Heath, securing a win by two shots after a stellar five under par final round. It was an impressive performance for England's Billy Spooner at Harleyford earning him his first EuroPro Tour title in June before Scott Fallon dominated at Studley Wood with a record breaking 22 under par for the week.

Chris Gane opened his campaign up in Scotland at Montrose Golf Links, not letting the weather dampen his spirits, firing back to back 66's to take home the ten thousand pound prize fund. Mark Young showed his composure at Clevedon winning on the first extra playoff hole. This win certainly got the juices flowing as Mark compounded this victory with back to back wins at Cumberwell Park edging closer and half way towards the £250,000 jackpot.

Not wishing to be overhauled, Sam Connor showed resilience in claiming his first victory of the season at Longhirst Hall. Showing his Scottish skills at Moor Allerton, Craig Ross held off a group of Englishmen hot on his tale eventually claiming the trophy by three shots.

Dave Coupland clinched his first win of the season by one shot at Wychwood Park. As the season heated up and Tour Championship spots entered the players' minds Jordan Wrisdale joined the winners circle despatching a final round 72 at Caversham Heath.

An in form Dave Coupland joined Mark Young as two time winners after a course record 62 in the first round set the foundations for an impressive week at Foxhills. Following this Billy Hemstock produced an excellent performance to win at the Nokia Masters.

The luck of the Irish certainly helped Tim Rice claim his first PGA EuroPro Tour victory at East Sussex National, rocketing him up the Order of Merit. As the Tour headed to Ireland, Mark Young claimed his third title of the season at the picturesque Tulfarris and cemented his place as a Challenge Tour member for the 2019 season. With only one more win needed to earn the £250,000 jackpot, Mark headed to the Newmachar Golf Club Challenge with his eye on the prize.

After early success on the PGA EuroPro Tour, Billy Spooner had to wait until the penultimate event to gain his second at the weather stricken Newmachar. The top 60 players on the PGA EuroPro Tour Order of Merit jetted off to Desert Springs to try and capture the elusive 5 Challenge Tour spots and have a piece of the £100,000 prize fund. It was Nick McCarthy who reigned supreme with a commanding performance, winning by three shots. The win secured a Challenge Tour spot for Nick who was joined by Dave Coupland, Mark Young, Billy Spooner and Joe Dean as the latest crop of recruits to graduate from the PGA EuroPro Tour.

After a successful season for many members the attention now turned to European Tour Qualifying School. For Scott Gregory and Daniel Gavins the fairy-tale was only just beginning as their composure and consistent golf earned them the ultimate prize of full playing rights on the European Tour.

FREQUENTLY ASKED QUESTIONS

How many people get a card from Qualifying School for the season?

Every player that enters qualifying school will become a Member of the Tour for the season and will hold a Category. The better you perform at Qualifying School the better your Category. This allows ANY Member to enter ANY tournament during the season regardless of how you perform at Qualifying School. The Qualifying School merely acts as a way of ranking all of the Members which is important when the final field for a tournament is to be decided.

If I don't make it through First Stage of Qualifying School, do I have any chance of playing in a tournament this year?

This depends on the number of entries for each tournament. Even though you have missed qualification you will still be ranked in Category 15 and can enter any of the tournaments on the schedule. Whilst you may not get into some of the early tournaments, as they are generally heavily subscribed, you may get in some of the tournaments later on in the season when entries are low for certain tournaments.

Can I compete at Qualifying School as an amateur?

If you have a handicap of 2 or better, you can compete at Qualifying School as an amateur and retain your amateur status throughout, provided you have signed an amateur declaration form at the onsite tournament office prior to teeing off at each stage.

I am an amateur. Do you require any documentation from me?

Yes. In order for the PGA EuroPro Tour to approve your membership application, if you are a member of a golf club in England, Wales or Scotland you must provide your CDH lifetime ID number on the online membership application form. If you are a member of a golf club outside of these countries you must forward a copy of your current handicap certificate to The PGA Tournament Department.

I plan to play at Qualifying School as an amateur. Can I play in the main tournaments as an amateur too with the category I have gained at Qualifying School?

No. As we are a professional Tour, if you wish to be assigned the category you have gained and compete in the main tournaments, you must turn professional prior to the closing date of the first main tournament you wish to enter. This can be done by completing an amateur declaration form and returning it to the PGA Tournament Department.

Participation in the pre-tournament Pro-Am is recognised as registration.

Failure to register in time may result in that player being withdrawn from the tournament.

PRACTICE

For each tournament there is an official practice day, times must be booked for this through the venue.

If players wish to practice outside of this allocated time prior the event it will be at the discretion of the venue. No player is automatically entitled to courtesy of the course.

It is important that each player checks the Information for Competitors online for each tournament for exact practice times.

The Tour operates strict practice regulations which can be viewed in full via the Members General Regulation Handbook in the Members' Information Area.

PRO-AMS

A Pro-Am normally takes place the day prior to the 1st round of the tournament but may, on occasion, take place 2 days before the 1st round. Members should be aware that these days are highly important to sponsors of the tour and it is therefore important for the future of the PGA EuroPro Tour that Members engage with their team and create an enjoyable atmosphere.

A typical Pro-Am day consists of registration followed by 18 holes of golf concluding with a prize giving/gala dinner. Prize money is available for all competing professionals for both the team and professional results. Most Pro-Ams are hosted by the tournament sponsors to entertain corporate clients and to support the tournament; therefore no outside team entries are accepted. However, those Pro-Ams that are organised by the hosting venue may accept team entries in which case you would need to speak with the venue directly.

SELECTION

Members are selected for the Pro-Am based on current form, exemption category and sponsors requests. However Members are also selected on how well they conduct themselves on the tour.

It is mandatory for a Member to play in the Pro-Am when selected. Any Member refusing to compete when required and a release has not been granted prior to the closing date may be removed from the main tournament.

RELEASES

Members are allowed up to 2 releases per season from participating in a Pro-Am. A request for a release must be submitted in writing to the PGA National Tournament Department before the closing date of the tournament.

DRAWS

Draws for rounds 1 and 2 are published in the afternoon, the day before round 1 of the tournament. Depending on the layout of the golf course, the Tournament Director may operate either a one tee or two tee start.

The Tournament Director shall conduct the draw. Groupings are randomly allocated by the tournament management system after taking into account any close tee time requests.

After completion of round 2, a cut is made to the top 50 professionals and ties who will then play the final round. Groups are allocated on score order with the leaders going out last.

The draw for each round shall be published on the official notice board, via the website and sent to each player by email and text message.

ORDER OF MERIT

Once the official tournament results have been published, the Order of Merit is updated. The Order of Merit is based on the cumulative money won in all main tournaments.

NB. To obtain inclusion in the final end of year Order of Merit, a Member MUST HAVE COMPETED IN A MINIMUM OF 5 MAIN TOURNAMENTS DURING THE SEASON.

Any Member that competes in less than 5 main tournaments shall be removed from the final end of season Order of Merit and shall relinquish any playing rights for the following season had they remained on the Order of Merit.

All Members should ensure they obtain a copy of the PGA EuroPro Tour Local Rules and Terms of Competition (Hard Card) and familiarise themselves with it. It is available by logging in to the Members' Information Area or a hard copy can be obtained at an onsite tournament office. A copy of the local rules specific to each venue will be issued on the tee with copies available from the tournament office the day prior to the tournament.

GROOVE RULE

A player's clubs must conform to the groove and punch mark specifications in the Rules of Golf that are effective from 1st January 2010.

PACE OF PLAY

The objective of the PGA EuroPro Tour Pace of Play policy is to achieve a consistent pace of play for all players in the field regardless of starting time.

Subject to the provisions of the PGA EuroPro Tour Local Rules and Terms of Competition (Hard Card), each Tournament round will be given a maximum time allowed, for all 18 individual holes, and therefore the round as a whole.

Current guidelines for holes are as follows:

	Par 3	Par 4	Par 5
3 ball groups	11 minutes	14 minutes	17 minutes
2 ball groups	9 minutes	12 minutes	14 minutes

Based on these guidelines, for a par 72 golf course, a three ball group would take 4 hours 12 minutes and a two ball group would take approximately 3 hours 32 minutes.

Further information on the PGA EuroPro Tour pace of play policy and timing procedure can be found in the Members General Regulations Handbook, the Members' Information Area and also on the Hard Card.

It is imperative for the Tour that a good pace of play is achieved and our policy operates in much the same way as that on The European Tour.

Should any Member have any concerns over the pace of play policy or indeed has any questions regarding their own pace of play, field staff at each tournament will be happy to help.

DISTANCE-MEASURING DEVICES

The PGA EuroPro Tour is the only satellite tour to allow the use of distance measuring devices during competition provided the device measures distance only. If, during a stipulated round, a player uses a distance-measuring device to gauge or measure any other conditions that might affect his play (e.g. elevation changes, wind speed etc), the player is in breach of Rule 4.3.

Range Finders

Certain laser range finders are capable of calculating elevation changes and wind speed, as well as distance. The use of such a device is permitted provided that only distance related information is accessed and that no other functions that measure or gauge conditions that might affect a player's play are accessed during a stipulated round.

Electric Trolleys

Certain brands of 'digital' electric trolley have secondary functions. Amongst other things these include distance measuring devices and temperature gauges. Use of a trolley including the latter would result in a breach of 4.3.

Due to the unusual nature of this specific piece of equipment, users of such trolleys are permitted to keep using them if they either turn this function off or cover the display screen with tape.

Smart Phones

Smart phones are primarily communication devices but have many secondary functions. GPS applications on smart phones are permitted provided the application used measures distance only.

However, it is worth noting that if there are other features or applications on the phone that can specifically gauge or measure conditions that might affect the player's play, such as an anemometer or thermometer, these must not be accessed during a stipulated round, to do so would be a breach of 4.3.

Internet

The Rules of Golf allow use of smart phones and the like, including secondary functions, during the stipulated round.

Provided the internet is not used on such a device for any action which would constitute a breach of Rule 4.3, the fact it is available, and used, does not render a conforming distance application non-conforming.

Members are reminded that whilst use of any artificial devices or unusual equipment may be permitted under the Rules of Golf, their use, persistent or otherwise, may constitute a breach of etiquette.

Members should also be aware that the examples in this section are by no means exhaustive.

Any questions relating to the above should be directed to the Tournament Director on site or through the PGA Tournament Department.
